JHI Asia-Pacific Region Conference to Focus on Links Between Business and Physical Fitness

Princeton Junction, NJ – 31 March 2011 – JHI, a global network of highly-regarded independent accountancy, business advisor and financial consultancy firms, will hold its Asia-Pacific Region Conference and Annual General Meeting (AGM) 8-11 June 2011 at the Conrad Bali Hotel in Bali, Indonesia.

Attendees will have the opportunity to network with other professionals in the Asia-Pacific Region and participate in educational sessions related to the accounting industry. Session topics include differences in business etiquette in various countries and cultures, the ins and outs of branding a new business and the impact of the tsunami and terrorism on Indonesia's national economy.

The primary focus of this year's Conference will be the connections between business and both physical and mental wellness. A presentation from Andrew Simmons, an expert in personal training, will encourage physical fitness in the industry by detailing the links between higher fitness and higher profits for businesses. Such sessions will provide attendees with wellness coaching tips and engage participants in fitness training on Bali's beaches. Simmons is currently a Regional Council Member for Fitness Australia, Director of Vision Personal Training Franchises Pty Limited and a fitness writer for Yahoo 7.

"We are often so focused on being successful professionals that we forget our physical and mental well-being are critical components to our success," said Mark Smith, JHI Asia-Pacific Region Chair and Managing Director, eks Solutions Pty Ltd. "The topics covered at this year's event will remind attendees of this sentiment, and provide them with the tools to implement healthy lifestyles in their businesses."
